COUNTIAN GETS YORK VERDICT FOR DAMAGES

A York County common pleas court jury Friday awarded $12,307 damages to Gerald J. Groft, 26, of 625 North St., McSherrystown, injured in a one-car accident on the Blooming Grove Rd. near Brodbeck on October 28, 1960.

The verdict was against Mary A. Kessler, Hanover R. 2, whose father owned the car, and James E. Smith, 214 S. Fifth St., McSherrystown, who was driving at the time. Miss Kessler was an occupant of the car.

Groft, who suffered a fractured leg in the accident, had refused to cash a check for $500 forwarded to him by the company which had insured the Kessler car. A representative of a claims adjustment bureau had obtained a release from Groft, but the latter testified at the trial that he did not recall signing the release while he was a patient in Hanover General Hospital.

Groft did identify as his the signature on the release, but both he and his wife, Florence, said they were not certain what they were signing at the time. They testified that the insurance adjuster did tell them that if they did not sign certain papers they could not be compensated by the insurance company.

The defense presented no witnesses.

Blossoms In Bloom Sunday

Thousands of visitors are expected to visit Adams County and Gettysburg this weekend to see fruit and flower blossoms.

The National Park Service reports that redbud on the battlefield is at its peak of bloom today and that dogwood is far enough advanced to create a pleasant contrast. However, they report that dogwood will not peak until next weekend under present weather conditions.

Blossoms in the county's 18,000 acres of fruit orchards in the northern and western sectors of the county probably will reach their peak about midweek, according to reports from growers, who are hopeful that late-blooming York Imperial orchards will be delayed in full bloom until next weekend for the annual Apple Blossom Sunday. Early apple orchards are in full bloom, cherry blossoms are dropping and peaches are beginning to show full pink in protected areas.

Cool nights have delayed nature's progress in the development of blossoms, and park officials and farmers report hundreds of early visitors to the area for the "blossom shows."

Study Pictures Of Ocean's Floor For Clues To Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Pictures of the Atlantic floor, taken from the oceanographic research vessel Atlantis II, undergo scrutiny today for clues to the lost nuclear submarine Thresher.

Upon the success of the examination depends whether the bathyscaphe Trieste, now at Boston, may be called upon to descend soon to the 8,400-foot depth 220 miles east of Boston where Thresher is believed to have gone down with the 129 men aboard.

Trieste, the only device capable of withstanding the intense pressures at the bottom, is the Navy's best hope for getting a closeup view on the submarine. But salvage is out of the question.

CONTINUE PROBE

At Portsmouth Naval Shipyard a Navy court of inquiry trying to find out what caused the disaster hears more witnesses in closed session.

At Friday's session of the court Capt. John J. Hinchey of Omaha, Neb., nuclear power superintendent at the Portsmouth yard, disputed earlier testimony that plastic found in the area where Thresher made her last dive appeared charred by flame. Hinchey attributed dark areas on the plastic to a lubricant used in machine tooling at the yard.

In Washington the Navy said the Atlantis—due back in her home port at Woods Hole, Mass., today—had taken excellent pictures of the ocean floor but found no sign of Thresher.

HAD DIFFICULTY

The research vessel lowered cameras to within 30 feet of the bottom to obtain photographs covering an area 30 by 35 feet. The Navy said one reason the cameras had produced no picture of an underwater object previously reported by sonar would be the difficulty of "maneuvering the Atlantis to place the camera precisely over the point of return indicated by the sonar."

Jacob M. Sheads, N. Stratton St., Gettysburg High School history teacher, was the speaker Friday evening at the meeting of the Harrisburg Civil War Round Table at Harrisburg.

Sheads related a number of human interest stories pertaining to Gettysburg, noted that 16 of the officers at Gettysburg eventually became governors of their states and that of that number eight were Confederates, eight Union officials. General "Extra Billy" Smith of the Confederate army at 66 was the oldest general officer on the field, he recalled.

Sheads reported that his Junior history class at Gettysburg High School is currently engaged in a project of writing the life histories of 150 "Generals Who Fought at Gettysburg." The students, in their papers, will write of what the generals did before the battle of Gettysburg, what they did during the battle and what they did after the battle. The history teacher noted, "You may think it difficult to write about 150 generals when there were not that many here. But we also include the colonels who commanded brigades and thus had the responsibility, if not the rank, of general." From the 150 papers on the generals, 10 will be selected, he said, for submission to the Gettysburg Civil War Round Table which will have the papers judged and then give prizes to the writers of the best papers.

John J. Cough reported at Friday evening's meeting that members of the Lancaster and Harrisburg Civil War Round Tables will be here Sunday to study the 2nd day's battle from the Confederate side.

Bickerdye. She went out on her own to help the wounded. Once an officer stopped her, asking by whose authority she was serving as a nurse. She answered: "My authority comes from God Almighty. Have you got anybody that can outrank Him?" The officer was amused, and permitted her to continue her efforts.

OTHERS WERE SPIES

Dr. Bloom outlined the great services provided by Dorothy Dix, Clara Barton and others and the difficulties they experienced before they were accepted as nurses by the authorities.

"While some women served as nurses, others became famous spies," he recalled Belle Boyd, who was captured and then married her captor; and Mrs. Rose O'Neal Greenhow who secured information from government offices and whose messages to Beauregard warning of McDowell's plans to advance proved resulted in the Confederacy's winning the first battle of Bull Run. Finally discovered, she was placed under guard but still managed to send messages to the Confederacy. She was finally sent to Richmond, then went to England to bring in gold for the Confederacy. Returning aboard a blockade runner, she left that ship when Union gunboats attacked it, and with another woman tried to make shore in a rowboat. The rowboat overturned and Mrs. Greenhow, weighted down by the gold strapped around her waist, drowned.

OTHERS IN INDUSTRY

The Civil War "produced the first 'Rosie the Riveters' as it were, because many women went into industry and business to fill the vacant spaces at the machines and counters caused by the absence of the men. And women formed the predecessor of the USO with the 'refreshment saloons' they established to provide food and Christian entertainment for the soldiers.

"Thousands of women took over management of farms while their men were in service. And thus the Civil War itself became an initiator of many phases of work for women.

"The war brought much hardship for women. Their men gone, most struggled to keep the children fed and the home together. Many of them literally starved to death. It was the fact that many wives of soldiers starved that helped lead to the draft riots in New York.

"And many women died of worry and heart break. The war was difficult for the women of the nation. It brought them much hardship, and it probably brought death to more women than to the men who fought the battles. A writer of the time noted 'Oh the widows and old maids made by the war.'

LOCAL GROUP

PLACE TROUT IN 3 STREAMS

The Adams County Fish and Game Association put more than 300 trout in three streams Thursday and tagged several of the larger fish with the hope of eventually finding out where fish go after their release.

Headed by President Clark Spence, the Fish and Game members put brown and rainbow trout in the upper parts of Conewago Creek, Big Marsh Creek and Little Marsh Creek. All were at least ten inches in length, a number were 17 to 18 inches in length. Tags were placed on eight of the biggest fish and the association asked fishermen who catch the tagged ones to notify any member of the association the location of the catch.

SPREAD RELEASE

To spread the fish out over a number of miles and make sure they will have enough food, the association group wandered through the woods, carrying only a few fish at any one time and placed only one or two fish in each "hole."

The fish were secured from Strohman Fish Hatchery, Shippensburg. The committee handling the release of the fish included Clarence "Pete" Schwartz, Floyd Cook, Terry Culp, George Lower, Jerry Settle, Carroll Smith, George Coleman, Russell and Earl Singley, Kenneth Biesecker, Ben Fry and William Howe.

The Fish and Game group is selling tickets to the showing of big game hunting films May 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Cashtown Fire Hall. Proceeds will go toward the fund for purchasing fish for stocking.

BLYDEN TO GO TO EUROPE FOR SERIES

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"Television series are like streetcars," said actor Larry Blyden. "They come along every so often, and then it's up to the actor to decide whether it will take him where he wants to go."

Blyden is a versatile performer equally at home playing a heel (Sammy in "What Makes Sammy Run?"), a singing, dancing leading man (Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Flower Drum Song") and assorted bookkeepers, scientists, reporters, suburban husbands on assorted television anthologies.

About three years ago, along came a projected TV series to be adapted from a book called "Les Girls."

Blyden, who had been turning a disinterested shoulder to five or six series ideas a year, decided that the series, retitled "Harry's Girls," was his streetcar.

So, next week, Blyden (who plays Harry) and three beautiful young actresses (who play the girls) depart for a year of filmmaking in Europe. A grass widow, Blyden has already rented a flat in London, and expects that he'll be doing plenty of traveling around the continent for location shots.

OPENS NEXT SEASON

"Why should I turn down an opportunity to become rich and famous?" he asked expansively. "Besides, I like the idea of the series; it gives me a chance to live abroad for a while; a chance to work with European actors and an opportunity to see a lot of theater in London and Paris, even Germany, Russia and Scandinavia, if I'm lucky."

The assignment on the show which will be an NBC Friday night entry next season will not make him a complete expatriate. He expects to fly to New York every five or six weeks, mostly to visit his two children, aged five and two, who live with his former wife, Carol Haney, the dancer and choreographer, in New Jersey.

Blyden, born Larry Blyden in Houston, also welcomes the television series because it gives him a chance to get back to comedy roles. He's been having trouble recently with that old actor's problem, type-casting.

CLUB RAISES FUND FOR TRIP

The Adams County Senior Extension Club has raised the $1,000 needed to send Miss Ann Lott, Aspers R. D., abroad as an international farm youth exchange student.

Meeting Thursday evening at the West St. branch bank, the club learned that the campaign for funds required under the international IFYE program has not only raised the $1,000 requested, but also will provide enough to pay for the stamps and printing expended in the campaign for funds throughout the county.

Miss Lott told the group she will leave May 31 for Washington where the 130 members of the American IFYE group will receive a week's program of indoctrination. She will leave for Southampton by steamer from New York. The boat trip will take eight days. She will spend six months in Scotland and most of the six months at farms in the southern and western part of Scotland. The last two weeks will be spent on farms in the Scottish Highlands.

A graduate of Pennsylvania State University March 23 Miss Lott has since been assisting in the 4-H organization for the county extension association.

Army Engineer Plan Would Make Emmitsburg Resort Area On 8,500-Acre Lake

Emmitsburg will be a major resort area fronting on an 8,500-acre lake eight years from now — if the report of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for development of the Potomac River Basin is adopted in its entirety.

The final report of the Corps of Engineers, filling nine volumes, and concluding seven years of research and hearings, is ready to be sent to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, the Corps of Engineers has announced. That board will study the proposal for several months, then either return it to the Corps of Engineers' Baltimore office for revision or, if the board approves, it will go to the governors of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia and to all federal agencies involved for study. Eventually the report goes to the secretary of the Army, from him through the Bureau of the Budget to Congress and then to the Senate Public Works Committee.

The final report of the Corps of Engineers for the $500,000,000 project designed to provide sufficient water for the Potomac River Basin, which includes Adams County, through 2010 differs little from the preliminary reports on which public hearings have been held for the last two years.

Inserted for the first time are completion dates for the various phases of the project.

Construction of the Six Bridge dam on the Monocacy River is scheduled for completion by 1971. The Six Bridge dam, a few miles below Emmitsburg, would, according to the calculations back up water into Emmitsburg — putting a part of that town under water and in effect turning the rest of the borough into a beach area.

According to the estimates the Six Bridge dam would back up into Marsh Creek into Adams County to about Natural Dam. The YMCA in preparing Camp Waybright along Marsh Creek anticipated that the flood waters will fill in low lying areas there, leaving the camp on high ground with a vastly improved stream for swimming and boating.

Install New Map At Engine House: A board in the radio room at the fire engine house, showing location of the Adams County fire companies, with lights which could be switched on to indicate when one of these companies has a fire call, has been replaced by a large map of the county with most of the highways shown.

The lights have been moved to a panel under the map, and lights above the switches show fire companies called out. A bank of lights has been installed over the radio room door to indicate whether a local call is for a fire in Gettysburg, outside the borough, a rescue call or a fire drill. The work was done by Eugene S. Sickles.

A "highway passenger train," seventy feet in length, made up of two coupled units connected by a flexible passageway, was tried out on the express motor highway between Berlin and Munich, Germany, in 1939. Named the "Gaubach" train after its inventor, the vehicle weighed 33,069 lbs., was powered by a 150 horsepower diesel engine and had a seating capacity of 78 passengers.

Today's Talk

ALL IS CHANGE

We boast of likes in this world — but there is nothing alike. We go to sleep at night saying that another day will come just like today. But in the new day will be crowded a billion changes, and more.

Time is the father of shifting. He doesn't want anything the same.

"Why! I knew you when you were a baby," I heard a gentleman say to a tall, mature girl who stood high in her particular achievement.

The laughing baby — then the youth and maiden. Spring, then summer — and soon the snow of winter's cold. Blackness and barren brown — and almost before one knows it, the robin; the blue bird, the tiny wren, and an orchestra of song to pierce the rays of light that stream from a changing sun. Flowers, too, that rise from a changed earthed — again to smile and die, leaving their fragrance and beauty as a cherished memory to all who saw and understood.

The smile for the tear, the light for the darkness, the rain where but a little while ago were blue sky and shining rays of gold.

Nothing ever remains the same. All is change.

We never look into the glass that mirrors our face but what a little change has come about — be it ever so slight.

Even the stars tell their changes at every twinkling.

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow — names so old and familiar, yet fitting something new every twenty-four hours. Those things which we say are the same from day to day, only seem that way.

So let us learn the art of being "good scouts." Let us put deep into the granite arch above the door of our hearts that inspiring word — Onward!

Dare! Go on. Refresh the earth. Breathe and live in movement. It is for the least of us to touch and feel the rhythm of immortality.

Sleeping to wake — waking to work!

Just Folks

ACHIEVEMENT
I passed his house just yesterday.
And at the front got chance to see
In all its glorious display
A blooming magnolia tree.I do not know the man at all,
Or what his life; or what his place,
Or his achievements, great or small,
I only know that work of grace.I only know it must appear,
Though all things else be lost in gloom,
'Tis something in a man's career
To bring so fair a tree to bloom.Against the wrong he may have done,
The blundering of his mind and hands,
That burst of splendor in the sun
Forever to his credit stands.

"First Lady" Will Receive High Seniors: Eighty-three Gettysburg High School Seniors are scheduled to meet with the Nation's First Lady Monday afternoon at the White House in Washington.

Arrangements have been made through High School Principal Guile W. Lefever to have the seniors visit the White House where they will be received by Mrs. Eisenhower at about 12:15 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The students will leave here Monday morning for the annual two-day visit to Washington by the Senior Class. They will be accompanied by four teachers: Miss Ruth McIlhenny, Miss Joanne Slifer, Robert Fidler and George Glenn.

The students will go to the White House bearing an Adams County gift for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who owns a farm here. The Fruit Growers Association of Adams County, at a meeting Thursday evening, voted to send a basket of apples with the students for presentation to Mrs. Eisenhower. The fruit will be furnished by Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale.

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Fifteen youths, rounded up last Monday after demonstrations over the banning of a book at Phoenixville High School, got a dressing down from Mayor Raymond W. Williams Friday night.

The 15, each accompanied by one or both parents, met with the mayor behind closed doors. No further action was expected. The demonstrations followed banning of J. D. Salinger's novel, "Catcher in the Rye," which depicts several days in the somewhat decadent life of a prep school boy.

RUSSIANS ARE PREPARING TO GREET CASTRO

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow today prepared an ecstatic greeting for the first person—Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro—to raise the banner of communism triumphantly in the Western Hemisphere.

The bearded chief of the Caribbean island's Red government arrived Friday at an Arctic airport near Murmansk where he was greeted by First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. The arrival took the Western world by surprise. Mikoyan was the man chosen by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to go to Havana last fall and explain both the emplacement and the withdrawal of Soviet rockets in Cuba.

GETS TOP HONORS
Castro arrived in the Soviet Union's stark North without fanfare and with no Western correspondents present to witness the landing. So far as the records show, it was Castro's first visit to the Soviet Union although his son spent some time in Moscow at school.

Castro's obvious aim was to cement the Soviet-Cuban alliance and for the Soviet public, the culmination would come when he made his appearance atop the Lenin tomb in Red Square on May Day.

Castro received top government honors on his arrival. There was a guard of honor, and national anthems were played. Besides Mikoyan, Adm. Sergei Gorskoy, commander in chief of the Soviet Navy was present.

Castro and Mikoyan boarded a train which will bring them into Moscow Sunday morning.

REGULAR SCHEDULE
The Cuban premier landed in Murmansk, not because of any deep-dyed secrecy plot but because the regular Cuba-U.S.S.R. plane—a Tu14 giant turboprop—always lands there. It leaves Havana every Sunday and Friday, landing in the world's largest city north of the Arctic Circle the same day.

The reason for this route is that no country on the way will permit such a flight to land on or overfly its territory and consequently it must fly the only available over-ocean route.

Castro's intention to visit Russia was announced in Havana over a week ago and Khrushchev repeated it in a speech Wednesday. Neither one mentioned the date, however.

LABOR LEADER GOES TO JAIL
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Nicholas Strone, Pittsburgh labor leader convicted of extortion, was locked up in Allegheny County Jail Thursday, starting a 10-year sentence.

He will be transferred to a federal prison later.

The handcuffed Strone growled at photographers and reporters as he was led through a corridor in the Federal Building.

He said, "What a big time they're having. What a helluva time. Gee whillikers."

The president of the Common Laborers Union, Strone was convicted in October, 1961, of extorting $31,274 from a concrete supplier as the price for labor peace.

Judge Joseph P. Wilson ordered Strone to surrender to begin serving time Thursday following the second refusal of the U. S. Supreme Court last Monday to review the conviction.

About an hour after Judge Wilson issued the order, Strone walked into the U. S. marshal's office and surrendered. He had been free on bond.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — John Wesley Boone and Edward Victor Harrington, both 21, escaped from Columbia County prison Friday night but were retaken within an hour. Boone, of Berwick, was doing time for auto theft. Harrington, of Thorofare, N.J., was serving a sentence for robbery. Police said the two, both trustees, somehow obtained a key to the main gate.

SOVIET PLANES BUZZ 'COPTER

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet planes approached two U.S. helicopters over East Berlin Friday in an apparent effort to discourage their routine flights over the Communist half of the city.

U.S. sources said the Soviet planes came within 500 yards of the helicopters.

The helicopters returned unharmed to West Berlin after flights lasting about 40 minutes.

The helicopters were on routine flights in the Berlin Control Zone, which stretches over both parts of the city.

The Soviets have objected repeatedly to American helicopter flights over East Berlin, but the Western Allies contend that they have a right to fly anywhere in the control zone. The zone covers a circle of 20 miles radius from the center of the city.

Last August the Soviets threatened to shoot down an American helicopter which took off on a routine flight over the zone after filing a flight plan with the Berlin Air Safety Center. The center is administered by all four occupation powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

The Soviets did not carry out their threat, and the U.S. commandant in Berlin protested to the Soviet commandant.

TANEYTOWN — Final efforts are being made by the borough council to collect delinquent taxes. Members have advised Attorney Stanley Hoff to take legal steps for the collection of outstanding taxes, and residents were given 30 days in which to meet the deadline.

Council also announced that residents who plan to close their homes during long vacation periods are advised to notify the borough in advance or they will be required to pay full water and sewer rates during their absence. Council met Monday evening in regular sessions.

The Key Club of the high school will sponsor a "Spring Swing" dance Saturday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock.

High school students will launch School Spirit Week Monday by cleaning the school in preparation for a week of activities sponsored by the Student Council. Tuesday will be student-teacher exchange day during which senior students will take over teacher duties. Wednesday will feature proper dress and politeness and Lt. Col. Alfred Clark will address the school assembly on Thursday on his experiences with Korean orphanages. Friday will be Turn-About Day when girls will carry boys' books, open doors and display courtesies to students. It will also be class color day for all grades.

Malcolm Tebbis discussed "Law and Women" Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Ki-Wives at the Taney Inn. He also distributed a pamphlet concerned with wills and heirs to the group. The meeting was in charge of Kitty Royer, who presided in the absence of Linda Hopkins, who was attending the graduation of her son at Great Lakes, Ill.

Bruce Trenning, Western Maryland College, addressed the Lions Club at a recent meeting and discussed community problems in meeting the needs of expanding populations. He was introduced by George A. Grier.

The following officers were elected: President, Frank Wargny, first vice president, Thomas Smith, second vice president, David Hiltnerick, third vice president, Donald Lawyer, secretary-treasurer, Kenneth Shorb; tail twister, Delmont Koons; lion tamer, Dr. Paul Roxin; directors, Theodore Fair and Kenneth Gilds.

Agent Urges Vaccination Of Hogs Before Dangerous Season Of Cholera Begins

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

With the most dangerous part of the hog cholera season just ahead, livestock health authorities are fearful it may bring a setback this spring to their new, nationwide drive to completely eradicate the disease.

Not enough pigs have been vaccinated against cholera at this time. This leaves broad areas in some states wide open to disastrous outbreaks. Since there is no cure for cholera, vaccination in advance of an outbreak is the only sure protection.

When to vaccinate and what type of vaccination procedures to be followed should be left up to the veterinarian. Pigs need to be checked to determine whether they are in proper condition to receive vaccination. Also the type of vaccination used depends on health conditions, and needs to be decided after proper evaluation.

Farmers are being urged to report all suspicious cases which may look like cholera. The heavy season for outbreaks is coming up shortly, and a constant alert against outbreaks is another key feature in the drive to eradicate the disease completely.

RUSH AT TEST LAB

"Prompt and Accurate" is the operating motto at the Pennsylvania soil testing laboratory.

Every day more than 600 soil samples from over 3,000 acres are being tested this spring. Each sample is carefully analyzed for pH and lime requirements, for phosphorus, potassium and organic matter content. Upon special request some are analyzed for calcium and magnesium content. After being tested the results are studied, and lime and fertilizer recommendations are mailed to Pennsylvania farmers.

How long does this take? About five days. This prompt and accurate soil testing program is available to all Pennsylvanians. The cost is $1.50 per sample. Contact your county extension office to obtain a soil test kit.

CURB CANNIBALISM

Pullet flocks frequently pick each other when first confined to the laying quarters. The change of quarters and confinement makes them restless and they may start picking for something to do. Pullets laying eggs on the floor may be picked by other birds.

Frequent trips through the pens when pullets are housed and feeding small amounts of feed at frequent intervals keep birds busy and may help to avoid picking. Disturbing those birds that look as if they want to lay on the floor may also help. They are more protected when laying in the nest.

If the vice gets started, darkening the nests, removing or extending the lighting perches farther from the front of the nests may help. In some cases it is necessary to debarb the birds or use antipick devices.

EMERGENCY DEFENSE

In the early days of this nation, American families had a survival plan. If a fire, flood or Indian attack threatened, the plan went into action. Today the United States is faced with a new threat. The possibility of nuclear war means that every family needs to be just as alert and as prepared as they were during frontier days.

Remember, in a possible nuclear war, you could survive. Unless you are in the immediate area of the bomb burst, your only danger would be from radiation. You would have half an hour before fallout began, more if you live far from the bombed area. During this time you could put a well-made plan into operation and take your family to a shelter. You won't have time to build a shelter after the alarm sounds;

Grow Giant Mums Outdoors

By EDNA HALLIDAY

Until recent years it was impossible to grow the large chrysanthemums unless one had a greenhouse. Today blooms up to seven inches across can be grown in outdoor gardens. They offer a real challenge to the enthusiastic gardener.

Jackson and Perkins have added to their Giant Bird Mum collection Golden Pheasant, with large gold blooms; Marsh Wren, a large orange-apricot; Mockingbird, an orange-red-bronze; and Nuthatch, a lavender-pink.

MIRACLE MUMS

Shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph is Gypsy Girl, one of Sterns newest, early-blooming Miracle-Mums. These giant Miracle-Mums are results of breeding by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dunham of Michigan mum breeders.

Others of this series are Fire Goddess, having red petals with butterscotch reverse; Golden-Girl, a golden yellow; and Gypsy Queen, rich orange-bronze with buff reverse. These are large flowered, measuring up to 6 1/2 to seven inches. They start bloom-this you must do in advance.

SHELTER AREAS

Many areas around a farm or home can give some shelter. Find the best place available. Add more shielding to make it even safer, then begin stocking up on things you might need or want if you should have to take shelter there.

Staying near the center of the first floor of the house reduces radiation exposure by about one-half. Going to a below-ground basement would cut it to one-tenth. If you build a shelter in one corner of the basement, using at least eight inches of solid concrete blocks in the ceiling and sidewalls with a shielded entrance, you would have a protection factor of 100. If part of your basement wall is exposed, you would need heavier walls in the shelter. An underground shelter, with three feet of earth on top, would give you almost complete protection.

STADIUM QUEEN

Inter-State Nurseries have added Moonlight and Spaceflight to their new Space-Age Quilled Mums, and Stadium Queen, a football-type mum. All three are creations of Glenn Viehmeier of the University of Nebraska.

As shown, nearly all of these mums come in peat or special prefertilized moss pots, which makes planting them easy and with no set back.

There are other outstanding mums available, but lack of space does not permit mentioning them at this time.

William Calcraft served 43 years as public executioner in England—more than any other man. He officiated at nearly every hanging from 1828—71 outside of London's Newgate Prison.

ROCKEFELLER ROMANCE MAY BLOOM SOON

By CHARLES L. WEST

NEW YORK (AP)—Public speculation about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's possible marriage plans accelerated today, fueled by a little fact and a lot of conjecture.

The lady whom rumor links with the Republican governor, 54, newly divorced Margaretta (Happy) Filler Murphy, 36, remained in seclusion.

Just as the governor has refused to discuss his own divorce of 13 months ago, so has he refused to comment on the divorce four weeks ago of Mrs. Murphy, social register former member of his staff.

Her former husband, Dr. James S. Murphy, 41, works as a medical researcher for the Rockefeller Institute.

"NO COMMENT"

Although Rockefeller's press secretary painstakingly pointed out that the "no comment" should be taken to mean only that, he governor's refusal to quiet the rumors—and the smile on his face as he does so—inevitably prompted speculation.

And a rare three-week gap in Rockefeller's official schedule provided an anchor of fact for the gossip.

Rumors raced through political and social circles.

In Albany, sparked partly by cancellation of the governor's news conference Tuesday, the state capital buzzed this week with speculation that the marriage had occurred.

WEDDING SOON

On Long Island, the gossip was that the marriage would take place there this weekend in the area of Southampton, where many in the Rockefeller financial circles make their home.

Amid the conjecture was the fact that Rockefeller's calendar shows no official engagements from May 9 to May 31. The governor, who has been shuttling between state business and speaking engagements across the nation, seldom has such a lull.

Both Mrs. Murphy and Rockefeller's former wife, Mary Tudor Clark, 55, are members of socially prominent Philadelphia families. Both are heiresses.

Drop Defensive Bombs On Havana

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alexander Rorke told an anti-Communist meeting Friday he was aboard a plane that dropped "five defensive bombs" on refineries in Havana Thursday night.

Rorke, listed on the program as a television reporter-photographer, did not explain what he meant by "defensive bombs" but presumably it was a play on words on the contentions by the Russians that they have only defensive weapons in Cuba.

"The bombs went off, but the tanks did not blow," he said. He added, "We made two passes — they can't deny it."

Rorke spoke to a meeting billed as an anti-Communist liaison seminar.

Later, Rorke told a reporter he was from New York City and had been a reporter for the National Broadcasting Company in Cuba and was imprisoned there when Fidel Castro came to power. He said also it was his boat, Violynn III, which was taken by the British.

AAUP CLEARS DICKINSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dickinson College of Carlisle, Pa., has been removed from a list of institutions censured by the American Association of University Professors.

The action was taken Friday at the AAUP's annual meeting. It followed a committee report that said certain changes at the school "reflect the presence of satisfactory conditions of academic freedom."

It also said other changes are being considered at Dickinson with respect to faculty status and committee structure.

The college was censured in the spring of 1958. Remaining on the list are 10 other institutions including the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, first censured in 1956.

In other action, the association censured Grove City College for its dismissal of Professor Larry Gara on charges of incompetence.

The charges against Gara, a self-described Quaker and pacifist, were never documented and the AAUP declared he had been denied academic process. He was dismissed in February, 1962, after five years at the school.

ACCUSE BOY OF BOMBING NEGRO HOMES

CHICAGO (AP)—A teen-age boy, considered so bright in chemistry he was jumped from a first-year to a fourth-year high school class, was accused Friday of masterminding a series of fire bombings of Negro homes.

The 16-year-old white youth—whom police declined to identify—was held with 17 others, mostly teen-agers, in connection with at least 14 bombings on Chicago's South Side.

Sgt. Drew Brown, chief of the police arson detail, said the youth's associates called him "The Mad Bomber" and "The Mad Scientist."

"He was the best bomber I've seen yet," Brown said. "He really knew how to make them."

FACE ARSON CHARGES

Brown said the fire bombs were soft drink bottles containing gasoline and rags—known as Molotov cocktails. He said gasoline cans were seized in the $75-a-month apartment. Police said then that Edward Gustafson, 19, and two unidentified juveniles told them they had set four fires during the past year.

Gustafson and Gregory Guehring, 21, who lives at the Gustafson home, were charged with arson. The others, including the 16-year-old ringleader, were charged with arson or disorderly conduct.

Detective William McInerney of the bomb squad said the targets were homes occupied by Negroes; adjoining homes occupied by white persons, apparently hit by mistake; and homes of white families suspected of planning to sell to Negroes.

The common bond that united Cossacks was a love of freedom and a disdain for social conventions. A cherished proverb was, "The Cossack does not remove his cap even before the Tsar."

37 PARENTS CONVICTED OF BAD CONDUCT

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A municipal judge convicted 37 Negro parents of disorderly conduct Friday night in connection with the boycott of an elementary school. Fines of $5 each were stayed pending an appeal.

The parents have been keeping their children out of Lincoln Elementary School since Feb. 26, alleging that it is segregated. Lincoln's enrollment is 98 per cent Negro.

Magistrate Sheldon Liebowitz found them guilty of violating the state's compulsory school attendance law.

He dismissed charges against four parents who participated in the boycott but whose children have since returned to school.

PLAN APPEAL

Emanuel Greenberg of Jersey City, attorney for the defendants, said the case would be appealed to Superior Court.

The magistrate would allow no testimony on the school situation here. None of the parents testified. Greenberg contended that the state law requiring children to attend school is in conflict with a federal law prohibiting segregated schools.

The parents were found guilty only on the absences from school on Feb. 26. Complaints in connection with absences since then were held pending the appeal to the higher court. If found guilty on the subsequent absences the parents could be fined $25 for each day.

"Big Show, Big Star" . . .Johnny Carson, Man Of Stature

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Johnny Carson, you're so sweet!" burbled handsome Fran "Mrs. Fixit" Lee as with the surprise of lightning in winter she plopped her own fuzzy fox blob of a hat right on the noggin of the unwarned headliner of NBC's nightly "The Tonight Show starring Johnny Carson" (in color). Except for a few muscles in his face, Carson froze with the control of a hunting dog — but the subtle shift of those facial muscles convulsed the nation's insomniacs.

Showing the sleepless ones no mercy, Mr. Carson and Miss Lee kept building the put-on-a-hat, bend-a-hat, react-to-a-hat until the giggles bordered on hysteria. Now he was Nanook, a split second later he was a wide-eyed schnook.

QUICK BRIEFING

Fifty years ago that one specimen of sure showmanship would have spared either of them further creativity. They could have toured it before the crowned heads, then into the provinces and back again ad infinitum. Yea there hadn't even been a rehearsal, just a quick briefing . . . so mercurial and demanding are these present times. Having pledged its faith in "Instant Carson" the network expects — and gets — such gems from Johnny minute after minute (including, mercifully, the commercials . . . of which there are many) five nights a week.

Like Miss Lee (who also wanted to make him "strengthening chicken soup") viewers feel proud and possessive. Most of us have failed to notice, though, that while we're rooting, "You can do it, Johnny," Johnny's done it and how! Since he moved into the star spot, "Tonight . . ." has been setting some records: Iter — 210 stations (the greatest number in the show's history) now carry the program; item — there's a waiting list of sponsors; item — even without such extras as his "let's give away a peacock" he's pulling 400 fan letters a day;

While his rooters are still shouting "You can do it, Johnny," Johnny Carson has outdistanced all previous "Tonight Show" records. His Monday-through-Friday NBC-TV colorcasts are seen on 210 stations (the all-time high) and sponsors as well as guests are clamoring to get on the program.

and the most telling item of all — NBC, which knows a good thing when it's hired him, has just signed Johnny to another full year's contract.

RAPIER SHARP WIT

What has made Carson such a hit? I asked three people: An actor, a press agent (for someone else) and Carson himself.

First is it because he's such a sweet guy as Fran Lee says? "No, I don't think he even is what you call a 'sweet guy,'" ventured the press agent. "But don't misunderstand me. It's not that he has a mean streak; he hasn't . . . but that wit of his sure is rapier sharp. Not deadly," he mused on, "unless he has to defend himself and then he has the flair of Scaramouche, but I don't think it's his nature to hold a grudge long enough for it to fester. "Sweet sounds kinda soft. He isn't; nice guy, though, decent sort."

"I study him," interposed the actor. "He has the most immaculate timing since Jack Benny. I don't know him, but I'd guess he started out shy, learned his craft thoroughly to develop that wonderful shift from control to artless humor. The camera can veer in any old time for closeups; every gesture is socko. I wonder if he studied pantomime."

"Do you study pantomime?" Johnny Carson, who considerately squeezed the time from somewhere for our interview gave a classic Carson answer, an eyebrow rapidly raised, then frozen into space. He broke it up with a quick grin, then got serious and shrugged. "No, sorry, I don't even think about it. I believe in letting attitude trigger the reaction. What you do is sort of the sum of what you are and how you feel about things. I'm just me."

LONG CAREER

Carson has been show-business oriented since childhood. At 12

he was billing himself as "The Great Carson," ventriloquist and magician, at community do's in Nebraska. (And if you'd studied ventriloquism long enough, come to think of it, what more could a course in pantomime add?)

After college he worked as a radio announcer, then kept moving until he landed a spot as comedy writer for Red Skelton at which point his world changed overnight. He was asked to step in and appear instead of Red on two-hour notice. Bang! Success! Shows of his own followed fast and he withdrew from his six-year run as emcee of "Who Do You Trust?" which he left only to take on the big one, "Tonight . . ."

As guest Carl Reiner told viewers a couple of weeks ago, "five shows like this a week are killing!" But lean, limber Johnny seems to be thriving. How come? "I like what I'm doing." Easy as that.

ALL DO JOB

Kitty, the white-haired wardrobe mistress, came by the door. Somebody else waved her away without Carson's noticing her. "You just missed a dashing 16th Century Costume," I ventured. "Oh, that's all right," he shrugged. "They must be working up a sketch. If it's still in, I'll catch up with it later." It was then 4 p.m. "At this point that's somebody else's job. At showtime, it's mine." He smiled. I marvelled.

"If I do have any secret about coming over O.K. it's because I let everybody else do his job. I've got enough to do with mine — performing. The producer produces, the director directs, the talent coordinators line up the guests, writers write (the sketches, that is, not the ad libs! and aside from an occasional request from me for a certain tune, the music is all Skitch's (bearded maestro, Skitch Henderson)."

"All right, you've accounted for the smooth production, how do you account for your own smashing success?"

"I wouldn't have taken it on unless I believed I was going to succeed or if there had been any thought of competing with my predecessors. The way I feel about it is that you compete only with yourself."

Will there be summer reruns? No. If he does need a vacation, there will be guest emcees because, "some of our best humor is possible because we can be topical." Film is O.K. for such daring stunts as his jet fighter exploit but otherwise live. "I do like things a bit wild," he said owlishly — but things can get

EXPECTS PSU CENTERS TO SERVE 10,000

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The president of Penn State says the University is planning to have 10,000 students enrolled at its 14 two-year centers by 1970.

Dr. Eric A. Walker told an alumni gathering Thursday night the big push in the university's expansion drive in the next seven years will be directed at the two-year centers which now have an enrollment of some 3,500.

Dr. Walker added:

"By offering an increasing number of students the opportunity to begin their college education within commuting distance of their homes we will not only be saving them the cost of dormitory fees, but we will be able to accept our share of mounting enrollments without an unwieldy expansion of the University Park campus."

He explained the centers will be devoted to freshmen and sophomores while the main campus will concentrate more and more on the education of juniors, seniors and graduate students.

Walker said the current main campus enrollment of 17,500 will climb to 25,000 by 1970.

MUST PAY FOR HIS ARTY JOKE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A truck arrived at the imposing Nelson Gallery of Art Thursday with a load of wire cages, small steel girders, boxes, jumbled wire and other items.

The driver had a letter from Wilber E. Phillips, director of the Kansas City Museum, stating the stuff might be used in the gallery's forthcoming pop art show.

Mrs. George Bunting, an assistant curator, sent the truck away with a letter of her own stating it was "such nice junk and such a nice selection."

Phillips confessed he "thought it would be a fine way to do some friendly kidding."

The joke may be on him. He paid $10 to have the junk loaded. Now it will cost another $10 to get it unloaded.

MAN IS HELD AS SUSPECT IN HATE SLAYING

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Tight-lipped authorities have freed one of two men questioned at length about the roadside slaying of a Maryland integration pilgrim.

The other man still was being held today on an open charge.

The man released was identified as Gaddis Killian, 44, who reportedly turned himself in when his wife told him officers had been looking for him.

Neither he nor authorities would talk to newsmen when he was released late Thursday night.

The Tuesday night rifle slaying of William L. Moore, 35, a Baltimore mailman, was termed a "senseless, brutal killing with no apparent motive except hate" by a state investigator, Lt. Maurice Chambers.

HIKING MISSION

Moore was hiking from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., where he had hoped to present his antisegregation views to Gov. Ross Barnett.

Authorities declined to name the men they picked up, but Mrs. Killian and Mrs. Floyd Simpson said their husbands were taken into custody Thursday for questioning.

Mrs. Simpson said her husband operates a small store in a building owned by Killian. The location is about 18 miles from another store Moore stopped at shortly before he was shot twice at close range with a rifle.

Prointegration signs Moore was carrying were found near the body.

After investigators abruptly ended their hours-long questioning of the two men, six state and county officers went to adjacent DeKalb County, apparently to check out a new lead.

Maj. Bill Jones, chief of the investigative division of the State Department of Public Safety, declined to comment on the progress of the investigation.

A new research laboratory has been set up at Beltsville, Md., by the government to study the effect on plants of growth regulating compounds and hormones.
